

FOR ALL PUBLIC BROADCASTERS

(April 15, 2005) The NETA Business Center and Automatic Data Processing (ADP) have forged a new, lower cost alliance for its clients' payroll processing and reporting services, Anita Sims, director of the NETA Business Center, announced today. This price reduction means potential savings for all public broadcasters.

The NETA Business Center, whose clients include licensees, nonprofit organizations, and foundations, uses ADP for payroll processing, 403(b) record keeping services, time and labor management, tax and compliance management, and benefit administration. "Through us, the Business Center customers also have the advantage of ADP's Web-based time and labor management (time tracking) tool called EZ Labor Manager™," said Sims.

ADP and NETA are committed to providing world class service and exceeding their clients' expectations. NETA has used ADP for its own payroll processing since 1997 and has found them to be a reliable partner that ensures payroll is handled in a timely manner.

Payroll administration is just one of an array of custom services offered by the financial professionals at NETA Business Center. General accounting, general ledger analysis, completing and filing SABS reports, annual financial audits, and more are available to any public broadcaster seeking to increase productivity, ensure compliance, improve employee retention, and control costs.
